Smart Pill Bottles and Bridges, Human-Centered Buildings and Innovative Energy Solutions are just a few of the topics our 2018 MSU Academy for Global Engagement Fellows will share with you during this year’s Global Research Reception.

We invite you to join us. We look forward to connecting with you and introducing you to some of the brightest minds in the MSU family.

Special guests include Dean Ronald Hendrick and Associate Dean for Research George Smith from the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, and Dean Leo Kempel and Associate Dean for Research John Verboncoeur from the College of Engineering.

September 20, 2018   6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The National Press Club | 529 14th St. NW, 13th Floor

RSVP at www.globalacademy.msu.edu or email age@msu.edu
Michigan State University has been active in global development for more than half a century. This commitment drives the University to continually reinvent and reinvest in our world with creative initiatives. The Academy for Global Engagement (AGE), established in 2014, empowers MSU’s early- and mid-career faculty to develop solutions to grand challenges through innovative global partnerships. AGE goals are to:

• Build a growing cohort of faculty who are forming international research relationships, problem-solving with partners and viewing their scholarship through a global lens.

• Heighten global awareness and dialogue.

• Capitalize on opportunities to leverage external resources and partnerships.

• Be a force in developing global research project priorities and influencing high-level strategies to address them.

In the past four years, the AGE Fellows have engaged 34 countries and been awarded $20.6 million in research grants with global reach.